Why Konya

Konya hosts more than 130 thousand students with five universities. All of these students have notable reasons to choose Konya. When we have a close look at their reasons six main factors stand out.

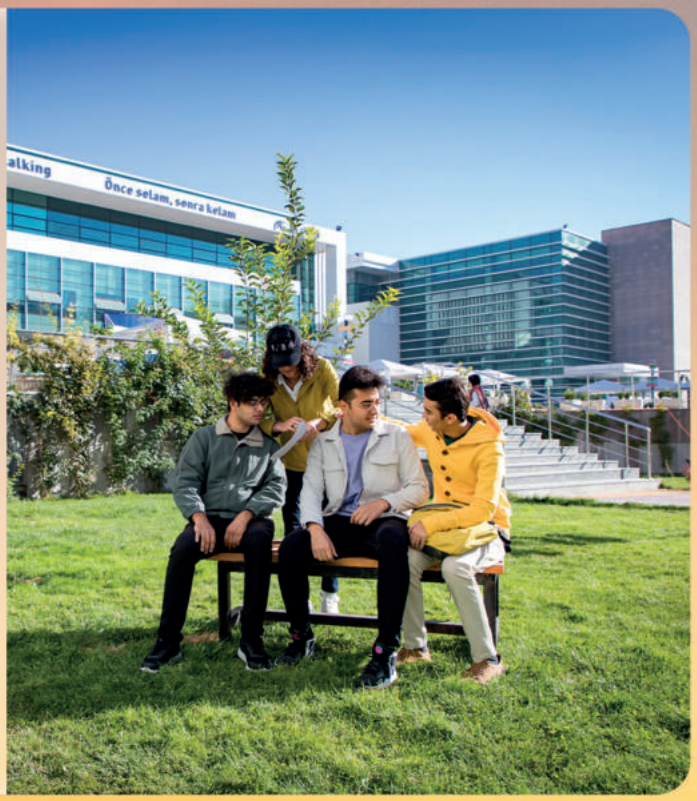

SAFE AND PEACEFUL CITY

Locals are welcoming. Many international students witness people paying for their dolmush (shared taxi) fees. Saying ''Oh no! Please put it back in your pocket. You are a student.'' Or, there will be people buying you a meal. This habit of doing a favor to students derives from the idea of appreciating youth in search of knowledge; dominant teaching in Islam. And needless to say, the crime rate in the city is the lowest when compared to the other big cities of Türkiye.

AFFORDABLE LEARNING EXPERIENCE

Rent in Konya is, on average, 97% lower than in Istanbul. There are hundreds of public and private student dormitories close to universities. Students can also rent a house easily with friends. The student menu at universities is at most $4 and at a restaurant, students can enjoy a mediumsize meal for $6. Restaurant prices in Konya are 68% lower than in Istanbul, and grocery prices are 15% lower than in Istanbul. Konya has numerous transportation alternatives with a public bus, tram, and dolmush lines. With a student travel card which can be bought for around 350 Liras (around $8,5), students can travel the whole city either on a public bus or a tram for a month. One of the best things about transport in Konya is bicycles. Students can buy or rent a bicycle to commute in this absolutely smooth city.

LOCATION

Literally, all roads lead to Konya. It is a hub for nationwide transportation. Students can travel to Ankara by high-speed train in less than 2 hours and to Istanbul in less than 5 hours. Antalya and its sunny beaches are only 3 hours away by car. Eskişehir, another student city of Türkiye is only 2 hours away by high-speed train.

RICH AND HIGH CUISINE

Since the city used to be the capital of Seljuks and Sufism, it inherited a culturally diverse and rich cuisine. Students living in Konya have the chance to eat like Sultans.

THE RISING BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL CENTER OF ANATOLIA

Konya is one of the most important employment centers with a highly developed and booming industry. Variety in manufacturing and developed industrial areas create employment fields. It is not surprising in Konya to see companies producing F1 simulators and plants making sugar-free biscuits. Students have the chance to gain practical experience through an internship at hundreds of companies. For students studying journalism, TV, and/ or communication Konya offers a rich list of local newspapers, TVs, and radios.

MANY PLACES TO SEE

Konya offers an extensive list of places to visit for international students. Seljuk Madrasas and mosques, Karatay Madrasa, Mevlana Jalaluddin Rumi's Tomb, Alaaddin Hill where the Seljuk Palace was located, the Science Center, Salt Lake hosting thousands of flamingos every year, and Kilistra, the ancient Christian city are on the top of the places to visit list for the visitors of the city.

DOUBLE MAJOR OPPORTUNITIES

KTO Karatay University allows pilot candidates to enroll in a Double Major Program at no additional cost. Even if students have not received any scholarships upon university entry, they can enroll in a second major free of charge if they meet the requirements set by YÖK (Higher Education Council of Turkiye).

Programs available for double major:

• Mechanical Engineering • Industrial Engineering • Computer Engineering • Mechatronics Engineering • Business Administration • Electrical and Electronics Engineering • International Trade and Logistics (English and Turkish)

Our Fleet

Our Trainings

SPL (SAILPLANE PILOT LICENSE)

A pilot candidate with a Sailplane Pilot License (SPL) improves their control skills by using a glider, which requires much more advanced control abilities compared to an aircraft. Our students perfect their decision-making skills during forced landings and learn how to approach the runway from the correct altitude through glider training.

NIGHT (NIGHT FLIGHT RATING)

A candidate who has completed the PPL(A) training must complete a 5-hour night flight in a single-engine aircraft. This flight takes approximately 4–6 days. Upon completion of the training, no license is issued, but this flight is mandatory in order to become a commercial pilot. This flight must be completed successfully for instrument rating and CPL licenses.

ME (MULTI-ENGINE INSTRUMENT RATING)

A pilot candidate with a Sailplane Pilot License (SPL) improves their control skills by using a glider, which requires much more advanced control abilities compared to an aircraft. Our students perfect their decision-making skills during forced landings and learn how to approach the runway from the correct altitude through glider training.

PPL (PRIVATE PILOT LICENSE)

A candidate who wishes to become an airline pilot must first receive the PPL training, which includes basic theoretical training and the development of the essential skills used by a pilot. The training consists of theoretical courses totaling no less than 165 hours and 46 hours and 30 minutes of flight training.

CPL (COMMERCIAL PILOT LICENSE)

The CPL is the flight training required for any commercial flight activity. It is the phase where the flight maneuvers learned during the PPL are repeated with a lower tolerance for error. This training is 15 hours for students who have already received IR training.

IR (INSTRUMENT RATING)

A candidate who has completed 50 hours of PIC flight can begin IR training. This training teaches the pilot to fly the aircraft safely using the instruments and navigation aids in the cockpit. Upon successful completion of this training and the skill test, the IR is added to the pilot candidate's license.

ATPL (AIRLINE TRANSPORT PILOT LICENSE)

The ATPL training consists of advanced-level theoretical courses that a pilot holding a PPL must complete to engage in commercial activities or work at an airline. The candidate revisits the courses summarized during the PPL phase in detail with a 650-hour training. This training lasts approximately 7 months within the 4-year program.

Student Reviews

I graduated from the KTO Karatay University Psychology Department in 2021. I was able to receive a wonderful education and experience during my undergraduate years thanks to the amazing academics in the Psychology Department. I am currently in the first year of my Master's program in Clinical Psychology at a university in Switzerland. At the same time, I am conducting research on cognitive neuropsychology as part of my academic project. Even after graduation, I can still feel the warmth and support of the Karatay University family, which makes me happy to be an alumnus of KTO Karatay University!

To help these students get higher grades and keep their merit-based scholarships KTO Karatay University offers Peer Support. When an international student fails a mid-term, he/she is matched with a student who has a good grade from that course.
